BODY OF COUNTESS DE SIBOUR REACHES HOME OF HER SON

Will Be Taken to Richmond for Burial After Services Here.

The body of the Dowager Countess de ibour, for twenty years a leader in Washington society, who died yesterday at her summer home at Narragansett Pier, R. I., arrived here this morning at 10 o'clock. One hour later funerservices were held at the residence of her son, Viscount Henri de Sibour 1603 K street northwest. This afternoon the body will be taken ta Richmond Va., and buried in the lot with the late Count Gabriel de Sibour, husband of the dead woman.

At the funeral this morning the services were conducted by the Rev. E. Slater Dunlap, assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, at Sixteenth and H streets, of which the countess had been a member and regular attendant until the failure of her Until last winter, the countess, who was seventy-nine years old, had known remarkably good health and even at that age was prominent in many social functions. A stroke of paralysis, from which she never fully recovered, necessitated her removal to Narragansett some weeks ago, her physicians believing that the sea air would restore her lost strength. Since her arrival there, however, she has been very feeble and has only been able to leave the house once. Prominent In Society.

For twenty years a resident of Washington, the Countess'de Sibour has been one of the most prominent social leaders and club women in the National Capitol. Her residence, at 927 Farragut square, has long been famous for the square, has long been famous for the brilliant entertainments given there. She was a great devotee of whist, and until the stroke of paralysis last winter, was a daily visitor to the Washington Club, of which she had long been a member. She was fond of the country, and was frequently seen at the Chevy Chase Club, of which she was also a member. She had at one time held offices in the Colonial Dames and was prominently identified with other important organizations. portant organizations.

The suit for criminal conspiracy was filed by Robert E. Joyce, former mayor of Mt. Rainler. Albert D. Rust, jr., who, with Amos W. Hawk. Charles E. Jones, Charles J. Peckham, and Finley Hayes, was made defendant by Joyce, says that while Joyce's name was mentioned in the meeting it was not intended that his name should appear in the resolutions, and that a special committee was not named to present a special set of resolutions to Joyce. Joyce, however, heard last week that these resolutions were to be presented, and he made it his personal business to make a call on each member of the committee and assure him of a red-hot greeting.

Commissioners Select District Delegates

The Commissioners today named the following delegates from the District to the fourth annual meeting of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology to be held in Miland Criminology to be held in Mil-waukee, August 29, 30, and 21, immedi-ately following the annual meeting of the American Bar Association; Aldis B. Brown, Walter C. Clephane, Henry E. Davis, Judge W. H. De Lacy, H. Pres-cott Gatley, J. Nota McGill, F. L. Siddons, and Justice Wendell Philip Stafford.

The meeting will be devoted to a study of criminal law, the reform of criminal procedure, and prison reform.

Temporarily Suspends Police Regulation

On recommendation of H. M. Woodward, permit clerk, the Commissioners today temporarily suspended the police regulation requiring the display of numbered tags on all horse-drawn business vehicles.

The supply of tags is exhausted, and a new supply will not be received before August 22. The Commissioners have instructed the Police Department not to attempt to enforce the regulation until further orders.

BUMPER CORN CROP HIGH BEEF PRICES

Secretary Wilson Declares Cost of Living Will Be Reduced.

That beef will be cheaper than for a number of years and the high cost of living will be generally reduced is the declaration of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, based on the prospective record harvests of grain in the United States this year. By predicting a drop in the price of beef, Secretary Wilson states that he does not mean the meat will be as cheap as it was a decade ago. He declares that in his opinion it will never reach that level.

The third greatest corn crop in the history of the United States will be harvested in the fall, while records in other grain crops will go by the board. the Secretary predicts. These record crops, brought about by the moderate climate experienced during the summer months, the Secretary declares, cannot help but bring down the price of many articles that grace the tables of Ameri-

Secretary's Explanation.

In explanation of his bright predic tions Secretary Wilson says: "Beef will be cheaper next winter than it has been for a number of years The high cost of beef through last winter and at the present time was due to the small corn crop of last year. The best beef is fed on corn, but with corn so scarce that the product soared to a price of 70 cents a bushel, many cattle raisers did not feel that they could feed their cattle for slaughtering purposes on corn, and get their money back. The result was that little good-quality beef entered Chicago, making prices automatically higher.

This year the corn crop will reach more than 2,800,000,000 bushels, or the third largest in the history of the country. This will lower the price of beef an appreciable degree, and will be aided by the splendid hay and oats crops which will be harvested.

Not To Reach Lowest Record. "Of course, the price of beef will never be as low as it was at one time. This is due to the fact that the broad grazing lands have been split into nomesteads, and the space is not available for the grazing of a sufficient number of cattle to meet the demand.

number of cattle to meet the demand.

"The oats crop is expected to be the largest which we have ever harvested, while the hay crop will be tremendous. In fact, every product will be harvested in great quantities, with the exception of cotton, which will fall slightly below the average. The wheat crop will total about $80,000,000 bushels, and grass, potatoes, and the smaller grains will be harvested in abundance.

"The good peach crop which is being gathered throughout the peach districts is taken as an indication that all fruit will be in large quantities this year.
